

MONTPELIER HAS 3 INCHES OF SNOW

Montpelier, Vt., May 10.—Three inches of snow fell here today. It was the heaviest fall in May since 1889.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 10.—This city awoke today to find a mantle of snow about an inch deep on the temperatures ranging from 184 to 110 degrees.

Springfield, May 10.—The mercury so dropped to thirty-four here today that the prevalence of wind prevented frost except in a few localities. Farther north in the Connecticut Valley much frost was reported.

Full River, May 19.—Announcements of a shutdown tonight until Monday were posted today in the Flint, Stafford, Barnard and Connel mills. Approximately 5,000 workers are affected.

Rumors were current throughout the city that other mills would take similar action during the day.

There is strong possibility, mill officials said today, that a four-day week will be established in nearly all the mills of the city.

Patrick Blesington, fifty-two, of No. 11 Butler street, Dorchester, sustained a possible fractured skull and multiple lacerations when he collided with a sedan while riding a bicycle today at the corner of Randolph street and Brook road, Milton. Blesington is at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

The sedan was owned by Mary F. Roche of No. 485 Green street, Cambridge, and operated by Joseph M. Murphy of No. 754 Hancock street, Wollaston.

Murphy was not held by the Milton police.

Unless you want to pay a special tax of two cents for every gallon of gasoline you buy for your automobile or truck, wire your representative or senator TODAY, asking him to vote against the proposed gasoline tax. The State doesn't need the money.

MYSTERY AS TO WHO GOT THE $325,000 RAISED BY MRS. HAYES

PROBE OF SCHWAB FORGERIES PROMISE SENSATION

president of Chatham, Inc., of this town. This is the firm that owns the hotel in the ground in Brookline. This hotel in the ground is the excavation for the projected Chatham Hotel.

WHO HAS IT?

Mrs. Hayes painted this venture as a project for the greatest hotel in New England. In reality it turned out that it is but a dubious castle in Spain.

By becoming president of the Chatham, Inc., Mr. Tobey let himself in for personal liability for all of Mrs. Hayes' stuporous notes in connection with this venture. They are said to exceed $125,000.

Mrs. Hayes got money for these notes.

Her blue eyes blinking pleasantly behind her glasses, this highly educated woman of most excellent presence and address denied that she has one cent of this great sum.

Who has it? The investigation is expected to rip some of Boston's financial dynasties apart. Several of the stuporous notes are believed to have reached Washington.

One for $125,000 is known to be held by a Boston banker.

ADMITS FORGERY

Mrs. Hayes handily admitted the forgery of Mr. Schwab's name in the note for $125,000 which resulted in her indictment on a charge of forgery. With equal bluntness she pleaded not guilty to the charge when the indictment came. When the exposure came she explained one of New York's best known lawyers, George Gordon Battle, to defend her.

Only two women in the history of modern finance can be compared to Mrs. Hayes—Cassie Chadwick and Mrs. Hummer. Cassie operated in the United States, Mrs. Hummer in France. Cassie obtained loans from bankers and business men on the strength of a note bearing the forged signature of Andrew Carnegie.

Mrs. Hummer obtained money to support a dazzling life in Paris by means of a fortune locked in a safe. Both safe and fortune proved as mythical as Mr. Schwab's support of Mrs. Hayes.

BACKED BY A MILLION

Mrs. Hayes not only forged Schwab's signature to notes, but produced a guarantee to which Mr. Schwab's name was signed. This guarantee indicated that the steel master was backing Mrs. Hayes to the extent of a million dollars.

Mrs. Hayes contacts with business men in Boston, Worcester, Springfield and New York were established through intensive introductions. She not only knew Schwab, but was acquainted with many important financial men who were introduced to her by Schwab. She used their names as well.

In using the name of Schwab she was careful always to emphasize the necessity of keeping his name out of the transaction. He was backing her, she said, under cover.

did not at the time believe she was guilty of the swindle.

It was only when all the facts were presented that he realized the situation. Even then he expressed the belief that she had not personally profited through the forgeries.

The Grand Jury indictment followed promptly. Bail was set at $100,000. The fall bonds of Clark and Mack, in their dealings with Mrs. Hayes, is said to exceed $100,000.

TUBEY BANKRUPT

Tobey filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy May 1 and asked the appointment of a receiver to protect him from judgments he feared would come from notes induced by him in the belief that Mr. Schwab would make them good.

The following notes signed by Tobey appear on the schedule:

By Chatham, Inc., to Iver N. Clark, for $25,000.

By Chatham, Inc., to the Aber-

Southboro R. R. SUSPECT SEIZED

Southboro, May 10.—The New Haven Railroad station here was entered today by a man who fled when he saw a St. Jean.

St. Jean, who sleeps in the station, was routed at 1:15 p. m. by someone at the door. He found the door was broken and the door was turned back from the inside. Nothing had been taken, so far as later examination showed.

St. Jean telephoned State Constabulary headquarters at Framingham. Sergeant O'Connor and Patrolman Barrows arrived soon after.

St. Jean started search. The man they arrested is about 40 years old. He was picked up at Westboro.

Gifts to E. H. Cole of New York, $15,000.

EMINENT HUB FIRM.

Chatham, Inc., has been actively promoted since last September. It appears to have been organized by the eminent firm of Boston attorneys. The officers are William C. Tobey of New York, president; J. R. Bowman, a brother of Mrs. Hayes, vice-president and Griffith H. Riddell, vice-president. E. H. Graham and William H. Sellers, both of Boston, were also officers in the corporation. It was Mrs. Hayes who got all these men together and undertook to raise several million dollars for the hotel.

The caliber of this remarkable woman was indicated by her attitude when bail was furnished at the New York police station to which she had been taken.

She left with friends to go to the Hotel Lorraine, where she has been staying. Her only comment was a laughing remark that she had spent a delightful and unusual afternoon in the nation's office in the police station.

"I have no fears as to the outcome of the charges against me," she said, with a smile.

Her attorney, Mr. Battle, alighted and then stated that "my client has not consciously done anything wrong."

Later, he said: "Mrs. Hayes has a husband in Boston. I don't know his name or who he is. In fact, I know very little about her."

He said that her relations with Mr. Schwab, I am sure, though, that she has done nothing criminal by which she has profited. Anything she may have done was not done knowingly."

MRS. HAYES AND BROTHER HAD HOT CLASH

Mrs. Myrtle R. Hayes, indicted in New York for forging the name of Charles Schwab to a $25,000 note, recently had what she described as a "furious act" with her own brother, Jesse H. Bowman, according to Miss Hazel Berry.

Miss Berry, living at No. 124 Crafts street, Newtonville, is one of the incorporators of the Chatham Security Company, and general secretary of the corporation.

Mrs. Hayes, in Miss Berry's opinion, is being made the "scent" by others.

CLASH WITH BROTHER.

The trouble between Mrs. Hayes and Bowman, her brother, came at the Bowman home a short time ago, as Miss Berry told it. Miss Berry said today that when Bowman learned of the alleged actions of his sister he "told her out cold," to use Miss Berry's expression.

Then Bowman resigned as treasurer, officer manager and bookkeeper of the Chatham Security Company.

"Mr. Bowman," said Miss Berry, "heard about the Schwab note a month ago and called Mrs. Hayes to his home. Their meeting was later described as a 'furious act'." Then Bowman resigned from the company.

"I resigned today and Mrs. Bowman told me over the wire that everything was all right. I have been getting my salary by telegram from New York from Mrs. Hayes for some time. I don't know where she is the money, for the company had no money in the bank.

RELIEVES SHE IS "GOAT"

"When Mr. Schwab came back from Europe, he held several conferences with Mrs. Hayes and William C. Tobey, of New York, president of the company.

"Mrs. Hayes' actions are strange to me, for she must have known that she was being made the 'scent' by the impression that Mr. Schwab was the undisputed principal in the Chatham project.

"The Chatham project struck a blow when the American Bond & Mortgage Company wanted more money to go to the project. They wanted more work. All the money included up to then went toward getting and improving it.

"I think that Mrs. Hayes was made a scapegoat—that is, being used by others who are smarter than she. She is a remarkable woman and one of nature's ways."

ENGLAND AND Russia are close to breaking the commercial tie that binds them. England's motto, as Lord Beaverbrook put it, is "we trade even with cannibals." WIFE SEES 36 MAY BE BODY OF HUSBAND IN VICTIM

Declares She Was Told Her Husband Would Never Be Seen Again

Although Wakefield, R. I., authorities are convinced the battered body of a man found in the water at Bass Rocks, Narragansett Pier, is not that of John F. Lawson, Jr., of Boston, Mrs. Ethel Lawson, No. 6 Blauvelt street, Roxbury, left Boston for Wakefield today to view the body.

Through a mysterious channel which she has made known only to the police, Mrs. Lawson related word that her husband, who had been active in prohibition enforcement circles, had been murdered by bootleggers.

Lawson disappeared March 1. Later word was secretly conveyed to Mrs. Lawson that she would never hear from her husband again, but that "the body might be found in the river or in Narragansett Bay."

BODY BATTERED.

Medical Examiner P. Edward Burke of Wakefield, R. I., performed an autopsy and declared the description of the mysterious missing Roxbury man did not tally with that of the body.

The body recovered from the water at Narragansett Pier was emaciated, and was badly battered, the features having been entirely obliterated.

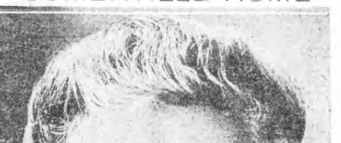

The theory that the dead man is another victim of the war between rum runners and rum pirates is widely held at Narragansett Pier.

HEAD CRUSHED.

According to the report of the autopsy, the dead man was about twenty-eight years old. The head had been crushed, and the man slain before the body was thrown into the water. There was no water in the lungs or stomach to indicate the man had been drowned.

Lawson is twenty-two years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 160 pounds, is dark complexioned and has brown eyes and black hair. He wore a gray suit when last seen. The overcoat was brown with brown leather buttons.

Shop Workers Hint at New Strike if Increase is Not Granted

New York, May 10.—Demands for a 20 per cent wage increase have been received by a number of Eastern railroads, including the New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, from the railroad shopmen's unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad are already reported to have been conferences with their employees.

The Pennsylvania and Lehigh Valley roads, which have wage agreements with so-called "company unions," are not affected by the demands.

The increases, if granted, would amount to $50,000,000 annually, it was estimated. The movement was expected to spread to a majority of the systems that have recognized the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

In some quarters it was predicted that another strike would be called should the roads refuse the demands.

3 SHOPLIFTERS GIVEN JAIL SENTENCES

Placed for clemency failed to move Judge Murray in Municipal Court today and he sentenced the women to the House of Correction for shoplifting in a department store.

Annette Russo, of the North End, was sent away for four months, and her two co-defendants, Philomena Russo and Marie Grizina, both of Maier's street, East Boston, were given two months each.

The three were convicted of the theft of a $45 dress. They pleaded not guilty, but offered no defense.

Attorney Thomas J. Grady, arguing for clemency for the three Russo and Grizina women, said that Annette was "the brains" of the party and that the others simply acted under her direction.

The Annetta told the court she wanted money because her mother had been ill for six years and also because she was at odds with her husband.

"One could picture some poor woman who gained at attractive near chandise in a store and stole a choice bit of fancy on impulse," declared Judge Murray.

These women, however, were in the store with bags and with the sole intention of plunder.

2 RADIO THIEVES GIVEN A CHANCE

Thomas J. Kazan of No. 432 Brookline street, Boston, and Frank R. Taylor, No. 61 Edison street, Quincy, had by the police to be members of a gang of radio thieves, were in Lynn court today.

The men, both twenty-four years old, pleaded guilty to larceny and were given three months suspended sentences each and placed on probation. Kazan is to make restitution of $100 and Taylor of $25, and both were ordered to pay costs.

Kazan and Taylor, charged with stealing radio equipment from Lynn Quins, told the court they thought counsel, that additional charges against them in Lowell, Lawrence and Gloucester, had been established, as they had both agreed to make restitution. It was stated to be a case that both were going to work.

YOUR LAUNDRY

WHETHER you've a washing and ironing machine or not, the right light in your laundry cuts down the time you spend there. If you can't see whether clothes are clean or not, the chances are they won't be. That's time wasted. Three simple things will light your laundry right.

1. Have the lamp hung as high as possible directly above the tub or trays.

2. Use a 100-watt bowl-shaped Mazda Lamp (bulb), or a 150-watt Mazda Daylight lamp, which shows fabric colors in their actual daylight value.

3. Use an Edison metal reflector to spread the light evenly throughout the room.

You can do these things for a reasonable cost, and save that cost in time the first few washdays. Call your electrical contractor today—he'll give you a fair estimate, and he'll do the work, neatly and neatly.

Let the right light make your house a home.

KILLINGS IN R. I. HOSPITAL CHARGED

Providence, May 10.—Two men were slain and many others men and women subjected to almost unbearable agony and suffering in the Rhode Island State Infirmary, according to testimony in the investigation being conducted by a special committee of the Senate, headed by Senator Cole of Warren.

John P. Downey, No. 77 Aborn street, this city, declared that in his personal knowledge, two men had been murdered in the institution.

"The last one was a colored man. His crutch was pulled away from him, and he was thrown down the stairs, and down the stairs he fell. The result? The man is buried."

"Another one was a little man who weighed about ninety pounds, a harmless, innocent, poor old fellow. He was called to the top of those high steps which lead into the prison."

"When he got to the top he was kicked in the stomach by a guard who was waiting for him. He died." For a Virginia, former superintendent of the House of Correction, an institution closely allied with the State Infirmary, admitted before the committee that girls were beaten and that they were put in stark jackets and locked up in a dark cell known as "the dungeon."

PRIESTS SEEK BODY OF EXECUTED VICAR

Peterhead, May 10.—The clerical associates of Mr. Buchanan, who was executed in Moscow early in April, are in the dark as to where his body is.

If the body could be delivered to his association and parishioners it would be buried with all the honors due a saint. Members of the parish seldom mention his name but they have a silent war of wailing tribute to his memory by kneeling before his shrine in the parish house of St. Catherine.

He offers a bill that would forbid any American ship to enter or leave a British port unless it had carry enough liquor for all demands. THE HOUSEWIVES, including Mrs. Harding, are fighting sugar profits with a self-denying boycott. But sugar goes on as usual, as the canisters are piled. Something better than a boycott is the use of deal with burglar and booter might be found for dealing with sugar profits. In war the government put a hard and fast limit on the price paid farmers for their wheat. Are sugar dealers more sacred than farmers? They are evidently more highly respected in their constitutional right to get all the traffic will bear.

The New McCALL PATTERN "it's printed"

IN the McCall Printed Pattern everything you need to know about cutting, fitting, and stitching is printed in words right on each piece of the pattern itself.

"Cut here," says the blue line, "Tuck here" says the pattern, "Notch 5 fits into notch 5" — no chance for a mistake anywhere.

Even if you never put a dress together before, you can do it with the new McCall Printed Pattern.

It is so easy that over 1,000,000 school girls are learning to sew by making clothes with McCall School Patterns.

It was impossible for the old-fashioned pattern to be absolutely accurate; it is impossible for the McCall Pattern not to be!

Your finished dress has the style and fit of the original model because the McCall margin protects the cutting lines and when it falls away, it leaves every piece with the exact measurements of the master design.

Choose your clothes from the smart new Paris designs pictured every month in McCall's Magazine, and make them easily, quickly, and accurately with McCall Printed Patterns.

THIS is the machine that has made possible the McCall Printed Pattern. No ordinary printing press could print satisfactorily upon the thin tissue required and it was only after months of experiment, that this press was perfected and the new McCall Printed Pattern became a fact. The printing of this pattern marked as great a revolution in home sewing as the invention of the sewing machine.

TWO ARRESTED IN HOSPITAL HOLDUP

They found two revolvers on him. One was fully loaded and the other had been fired from the officer. Stearns denied any knowledge of the holdup, but the police said his appearance failed to fit the description of one of the men concerned in it. No money was found on his person. While the country roads were being searched by state constabulary and municipal police for the two white men who committed the actual robbery a man driving a small touring car in Worcester was held up in Webster at about 10:30 p.m. by two men.

"PAY" FOR SEIZED CAR

They showed a few per cent. more in the victim's hand, jumped in his car and drove away in the direction of Boston. The pay envelope, which contained cash, were some of those stolen from the bus. They evidently were left in payment for the car taken from the man although why the two bandits should make any payment, in view of previous proceedings, was a mystery.

The seized insurance is a 1911 model Pierce Arrow with Massachusetts registration 155,188. According to the State motor vehicle registry office, the machine is registered to Benjamin Maxwell of No. 23 Plymouth street, Cambridge. It was bought from the Langham Motor Co., of Columbus avenue.

P. I. Wiley, hospital steward, and R. L. Whitney, head farmer, started in pursuit in Whitney's automobile after the robbery at the Worcester institution.

Attaches of the hospital officer, from whom the payroll was stolen, said that the leader of the three—the one who actually seized the money—was a former employee at the hospital known under the name of John Shirley.

At 8:15 the auto, driven from the Lyman street halted at the side door. The chauffeur was a colored man. The engine was kept running.

The other men entered the corridor and went to the payroll window. Several nurses were in the corridor.

In the office were Miss Mary Aldrich, bookkeeper at the payroll; Miss Nelson, treasurer, and Miss Tenney and another clerk.

The taller man of the two, identified as Shirley, stepped up and asked:

"Any mail for me?" This was a natural inquiry as former employees frequently called for letters. Miss Aldrich turned to the letter boxes back of her.

Instantly Shirley, who was wearing a dark suit, reached through the window, scooped up the pay envelopes, which were in full view, and fled, followed by his companion, a short man. They had displayed no weapons.

They were quickly in the auto going "on high," in the general direction of Southboro.

Miss Nelson and others went to the door in time to take the registry number of the car and then gave the alarm.

CHINA ACTS TO PAY RANSOM TO BANDITS

By the Associated Press.

Shanghai, May 10.—All the foreign captives held by the Szechwan bandits are well, "having a wonderful time and expect to be released soon," according to written messages received from four of them by relief workers near Linching, which were relayed here today.

Majors Roland Pinger and Robert Allen, U.S.A., are still held, but their sons have been released.

Washington, May 10.—The attack by Chinese troops on the bandits who captured Americans and other foreigners and wrecked the Shantung-Peking express train in Shantung, has been ordered stopped by the Peking government.

State Department advises today from the American Legation at Peking that the Peking authorities had ordered the Chinese troops to "stop from measures against bandits" and adopt "peaceful means" which would insure the liberation of the prisoners without injury.

The Chinese Ministry of Communications was said to have sent supplies of food and clothing and its agents were attempting to distribute them among the captives by using natives in the districts where the bandits have been looting.

The State Department adds in formation has been received from the legation in Peking which states that a presidential mandate which unseated May 5 ordered an investigation of the affair with a view to punishing the civil and military officials at the scene of the outrage pending a thorough investigation.

Bandit Capers Made Miss Aldrich Laugh

By ERIC VON SALZMAN
(International News Service)

Peking, May 10.—Miss Lucy Aldrich, sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who was kidnapped by the Shantung train bandits and later released, arrived here today with an exciting story of carrying heirloom jewelry in her hands while driven with the other prisoners towards the mountains.

Contrary to stories of other prisoners, Miss Aldrich said that the bandits treated their captives kindly.

Miss Aldrich was ill from exposure. She was accompanied by a physician on her trip from Tsingtao to this city.

"I was not scared by the bandits," she said. "I had time to hide some money and valuables before we were searched off. I saw about a score of bandits altogether."

HID AWAY JEWELRY.

"I was in my nightgown, and the raid was made at night. I put on my slippers when I heard the noise. They had no harsh treatment so far as I could see. They marched us all right towards the mountains, and all that time I held in my hands my mother's rings and other heirlooms of jewelry that I had saved."

The following day (Monday) Miss Aldrich removed one of her slippers and secreted the jewelry in it. This caused her foot to swell. Finally she was able to secret it in a place she believed she would remember.

The bandits in charge of Miss Aldrich and her companion, Miss Minnie McFadden, were attracted by their companion. They took a special liking for Miss Aldrich, which may account for the fact that she was released. During the night at camp the bandits started going into their little Chinese village and looting. It included a woman's hat, a hot water bottle, a tube of tooth paste, and numerous other toilet articles.

SEES PRISONER SLAIN.

Miss Aldrich laughed heartily and especially when one of the bandits put on the woman's hat and started to caper around in it.

Not to be outdone, others of the bandits donned stolen slippers. One of the comedians pointed a gun at Miss Aldrich, but she was not frightened. She shook her head and continued to laugh.

One of the men patted her on the back, muttering something. A Chinese who could speak English said she was calling him a brave woman. They were so taken with her courage that they gave her a hug to ride.

One of the Chinese—a prisoner—was unable to keep up with the procession along the steep mountain trails. The bandits solved this problem quickly and effectively by shooting him before Miss Aldrich's eyes.

Miss Aldrich became so exhausted she could hardly sit up. The bandits saw that she was helpless and when she lagged behind they made no effort to prevent her from succumbing. The burly, however, was taken away from her, she wandered all afternoon and night.

A storm of rain and hail came up and she took shelter in a hut where she went to sleep. A farmer found her and took her to his home.

She was stayed by R. F. Sault, an agent of the Asia Development Company, who took her to Linching. Thence she was taken to the hospital.

WARNS OF TORTURES.

An aged farmer arrived at Linching on Wednesday night with a letter signed by J. B. Powell, one of the American captives, urging the Chinese authorities to withdraw the pursuing troops.

"This is the only condition on which the bandits will release their prisoners," wrote Powell. "I hope messengers with influence will urge the Chinese to call off the soldiers. The bandits are threatening dire reprisals, even mutilation."

It was reported but without confirmation, that the United States consul at Tsingtao had received an ultimatum from the bandits that unless their comrades who had been besieged by Chinese troops for a month were liberated all prisoners would be tortured and then sent to death. This ultimatum expired at 4 o'clock last night.

Declares War Lords Are Cause of China's Troubles

New York, May 10.—China, with a weak central government, is ruled today by military lords, according to Frederick W. Stevens of Ann Arbor, Michigan, a member of the International Consortium for China, who describes some of the difficulties faced by that country.

He said that with the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty, after a rule

JUDGE BIASED, ALLEGED AUTO BANDIT SAYS

William F. Gray, alias Edward Murphy, of the South End, filed motion for a change in venue with Judge Franklin T. Hammond in the Superior Criminal Court, East Cambridge, on the ground that he believed it impossible for him to receive a fair and honest trial in Middlesex County because of prejudice on the part of the judge and the district attorney.

Gray is charged with larceny, assault and robbery while armed with a Wm. F. Gray dangerous weapon. He is alleged to be the leader of a gang of auto bandits who terrorized suburban Boston about two months ago with a series of daring holdups.

Gray, who is acting as his own counsel, stated in support of his motion that he has reason to believe Judge Hammond is prejudiced in favor of Assistant District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell, who is conducting the prosecution. He charged that Mr. Bushnell with being too friendly with jurors on the panel.

When the selection of the jury in Gray's trial began, Gray broke all precedent in the court by challenging thirty-two veniremen. The government challenged one. Later the same day, he objected to Mr. Bushnell's convening with some of the challenged jurors.

He further complained matters by filing a motion that all witnesses except the one on the stand be excluded from the court room during the taking of testimony. This motion was granted.

Gray faces two indictments, containing eight counts alleging of force in connection with holdups staged early in March in Cambridge and Somerville drug stores.

BRITAIN'S NOTE TO RUSSIA DENOUNCED

London, May 10 (By Associated Press)—Between the controversy with Russia and the situation created by the success of Art O'Brien's appeal for a writ of habeas corpus, the government is clearly in for a stormy time.

The Laborites, most of the Liberals—both Lloyd George and Asquith—and even some of the Conservatives, it is said, disapprove of the ministry's handling of the dispute with Russia and it is predicted in some quarters that next Tuesday's debate in the House of Commons may prove awkward for the ministers if they are unable to get the solid support of their followers on that occasion.

The Liberal press, which did not comment yesterday on Lord Curzon's note to Moscow, today strongly condemns its tone and its "vociferous" demands. These newspapers agree that Great Britain had solid and important grounds of complaint, but they condemn the threat to terminate the trading agreement as worse than a blunder.

They also regard the note as "damaging" to make it difficult, if not impossible, for a self-respecting government to make a temperate, diplomatic reply.

Russia Grants Fishing Rights to Japanese

Tokio, May 10 (By Associated Press)—Permission of Japanese fishermen to operate in Siberian waters, one of which by the Soviet government threatened to cause a rupture with Tokio, has been granted, according to an extra edition of the Asahi today. Moscow is reported to have acceded to the personal appeal of A. A. Joffe, the Soviet envoy, who is in Tokio. It is understood the Japanese fishermen will be used for Siberia.

LIQUOR ON THE HIP NOW DOOMED

Reunited as Divorce Trial Nears

THREE-FOURTHS OF THE DONAHUE FAMILY IN FRONT OF THE DONAHUE HOME IN BROOKLINE. IF THE OTHER FOURTH, WHO IS THE JUNIOR SWAG, COULD SEE JACK IN HIS PRIMITIVE METHOD OF GRIPPING A SWAG SHE'D PROBABLY KNOCK HIM LOSS FROM HIS HOOFING PEDALS.

They stand on the street corners on fair days when the weather is propitious, leaning away, sometimes a confederate with a mouth harmonious far as the music. Sometimes they dance just to the unwritten music in their hearts. They are the Brotherhood of Hoofers. To them Abraham Lincoln is a great character, but not so great as Pat Rooney the Elder. They are worshippers of the art of George Primrose, King of the Soft Shoe clan; George M. Cohan, pioneer of the indolent eccentric dance, and Laddie Cliff, the greatest of tap dancers.

THE HOOFER

Quartet singers are born, acrobats are made, but hoofers just happen. And the greatest of these is Jack Donahue, who hoofed his way to fame and fortune on a magic carpet. Here's a boy has trained his personal pedals to the point where they earn for him a weekly emolument which compares favorably with that received by the President of the United States.

"A grand a week," says Jack "ten sure enough yards each and every Saturday. I never get my pay without pinching myself to find out whether or not I'm not dreaming."

But he started Jack on his way. The kid boxed his way to New York and played the saloon circuit on Third avenue. He slept in hall ways, dined on pretzels and dry-spiced ham from the lunch counters (yes, honey, they had lunch counters in saloons in those days).

He saved his pennies. Eventually, in the order of things, he got into vaudeville. He played theaters in barns, town halls. By degrees he made his way back to Boston. He picked up a copy of a Boston paper and read an ad signed by one Johnnie Mack, in which was told the urgent need of a young woman in vaudeville for a partner who could dance.

Jack applied for the job and got it. The young lady got a partner and so did Jack, for a year later he married her.

Jack's present engagement is the first in which he has been actually starved.

Also, he has already been discovered, thereby cheating us of the satisfaction of our Columbus stage show.

Joe Monahan and Archie Phlegan, Danny's old, noblest friends, who have helped him arrive. His soul will carry him to greater levels.

He'll be Broadway in a secret. Donahue isn't a hooper any more. He's an actor now.

Give me five years, and see if I'm not right.

He never went to school. He sometimes spits an invective. He says "ain't" and "I reckon" and "you betcha." But he earns more money in a week than most of the professional stars in a year. His wife and former stage partner and two kids adore him because he's just as much of a kid as he was twenty years ago.

He was supposed to get $5 a week

Dorchester Landlord Given Two Years as Pickpocket

Harry Gold, said to be the landlord of two Dorchester tenement houses, was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction for picking a pocket in the Municipal Criminal Court. Patrolman Mark Morrison of the City Hall station told the court that he arrested Gold, also known as Harry Hoffman of No. 833 Columbia avenue, in the Washington street station of the Cambridge tube, where he had stolen a wallet containing $50, from Fred H. Mosher of Cambridge. He said that Gold dropped the pocketbook and then kicked it into the pit.

ENTER FOR PLACE IN BOSTON MOVIE

More candidates for the cast of the Boston American-Rodman Corporation two-reeler entitled, "The Affairs of Lady Boston," to be made here with local talent. Let us right, Betty Borders, No. 18 Chelmsford street, Boston; Irene Price, No. 21 Normandy street, Roxbury; at top, Edith Eldred, No. 254 Ferry street, Malden, and Little Stanley McBride, No. 15 Howell street, Dorchester. Which of them will be made actors for the cast? Only Director Brager knows, and he won't tell until next Monday.

COX FOR SENATE AS "LEADER OF DAYS"

A movement to groom Governor "Manning" Cox as the Republican "candidate for United States Senator in 1924 was seen today by political observers in the action of the Governor in signing the State prohibition enforcement act and in vetoing the Adair bill for a referendum to the voters on the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and modification of the Volstead act.

The name of Louis A. Collette of Milton has been mentioned as a possible United States senatorial candidate on the Republican ticket, and it was assumed in political circles that he would make his primary campaign on a "wet" platform.

On the Democratic side would Governor Cox be United States Senator David I. Walsh, Senator Walsh is known as a "conservative wet."

ROXBURY CHILD BITTEN BY DOG

Three-year-old Dorothy Caldwell of Mrs. Freda Caldwell at No. 14 Rockford street, Roxbury, was bitten today by the face by a dog as she played near Lexington and Dudley streets.

The child was taken to the City Hospital, where her wounds were cauterized. She will be given the Pasteur treatment later.

LOCAL AMATEURS EAGER TO BE SCREEN STARS IN NEW FILM

More candidates for the cast of the Boston American-Rodman Corporation two-reeler entitled, "The Affairs of Lady Boston," to be made here with local talent. Let us right, Betty Borders, No. 18 Chelmsford street, Boston; Irene Price, No. 21 Normandy street, Roxbury; at top, Edith Eldred, No. 254 Ferry street, Malden, and Little Stanley McBride, No. 15 Howell street, Dorchester. Which of them will be made actors for the cast? Only Director Brager knows, and he won't tell until next Monday.

Had weather conditions be the only thing that can delay the work. If the sun is not hidden behind clouds the first exterior shots will be made, probably in Chelsea. If the day turns out cloudy it is likely that Brager may decide to take some of the interior stuff first.

In that event, those who have been selected to play the various roles in the two-reel travesty based on "The Affairs of Lady Hamilton," now playing at the Park Theatre, will have their first view of the Cooper Hewitt lights.

Inquiries have been made as to the plot of the picture. This cannot be revealed in detail now, but the lurid version will follow in general the plot of the parent picture as the Park.

There is absolutely no obligation of any sort attached to the procedure of application for a part in this picture. All that is necessary is to present one of the Boston American Casting Coupons to Mr. Brager, any morning until Saturday, from 10 to 11 a. m. While a great many applications have already been made, no definite choices have been fixed for any of the parts. Applicants who present coupons tomorrow or Saturday have as good a chance as any to be selected for a part.

"LOCATIONS" PICKED.

Phil Dunn, technical director of the Rodman Corporation, has been out about town on location, filming the spots where the exterior shots are to be made. All the well-known nooks of Greater Boston will be covered in this picture.

The most prominent of new projects abandoned in New York because of high material prices and mounting labor costs totalled $25,000,000, but additional projects abandoned today forced the total above $50,000,000, with reports of further stoppage in new construction work still coming in.

The most prominent of new projects abandoned was the New York Central Administration Building.

NOTE—Applicants for positions in the cast of "The Affairs of Lady Boston" must present this coupon to L. R. BRAGER, in the lobby of the Park Theatre, between 9 and 11 a. m. any day this week. No applications will be honored without this coupon. Filming of the picture starts Monday afternoon, May 14, in Boston.

BUILDING SLUMP BANDIT ROBS CAR NOT IN HUB YET

CONDUCTOR

Boston has not yet been affected by any general building of construction work, according to F. W. Dodge Company, construction reports, but it is considered possible that the building slump conditions elsewhere may cause local lull.

It was stated that there are a few cases of construction being stopped because of high cost of materials, but this condition is described as "normal."

New building projects abandoned in New York because of high material prices and mounting labor costs totalled $25,000,000, but additional projects abandoned today forced the total above $50,000,000, with reports of further stoppage in new construction work still coming in.

The most prominent of new projects abandoned was the New York Central Administration Building.

Die in Ambulance

Leander Murchison, fifty-eight, of No. 35 Mechanic street, Newton, died in the police ambulance on his way to Newton Hospital today. Acute heart disease, was given as the cause of death.

South End Wife Beaten

John A. Gravelle, thirty-three years old, of No. 29 Shawmut street, South End, was removed to the City Hospital after, he said, he had been beaten by his wife, Mrs. Gravelle, at their home. She was suffering from a severe injury to the left eye.

DRUGGIST KILLS BACK OWN WIFE

Two Unsettled Alienation Suits Only Thing in Happiness of the Fishers

Love again rules over the affairs of Wilbur H. Fisher of No. 1443 Commonwealth avenue and his wife, Mrs. Mary M. Fisher. They have agreed to agree again, with the result that she has dropped her divorce suit against him.

There remains a little matter of two alienation suits, totaling $1,000 which Fisher has brought against his former landlady and his sister-in-law. Love may solve the problem, too, now that Fisher has won back his wife.

After quarrel, Fisher, a pharmacist in a Commonwealth avenue drug store, boarded with his wife and two children at the home of Mrs. M. J. Pike, of No. 18 Ridgmont street, Brighton.

There is general agreement that neither law did not tend to solve the situation. Fisher quarreled with his wife, and after one of these disputes about four months ago Mrs. Fisher, with their child, packed up and went to the home of her sister, Mrs. H. D. McKnight, No. 8 Melville terrace, Newton.

Then things happened rapidly. Mrs. Fisher, on February 8, 1922, filed a divorce suit, charging cruel and abusive treatment. This action was taken through her counsel, Attorney Henry A. Guthrie.

Shortly after this Fisher, through his counsel, Attorney Thomas J. Barry, sought from the Probate Court an order for the custody of their child. On motion of Attorney Guthrie this motion was transferred to the Superior Court with the divorce proceedings.

The divorce hearings were due to start in June. In the meantime, Fisher, through Attorney Barry, filed his two $10,000 suits against Mrs. Pike and Mrs. McKnight charging they alienated his wife's affections. The two defendants retained Attorney Guthrie as counsel.

Then Fisher's love for his wife returned.

On May 8 the Fishers, with the baby, appeared in February Guthrie's office. After a talk, the Fishers agreed to live together again and the divorce action was squashed.

The couple then decided to purchase furniture for their new home. This leaves only the alienation suits to be disposed of. Mrs. Pike has announced the charge is ridiculous and that the only thing she ever did was to "protect Mrs. Fisher" when Fisher threatened her.

BOY KILLED BY LAWRENCE AUTO

Lawrence, May 10.—The death of George Hagan, twelve, of No. 25 Oak street, a few hours after he was knocked down by an automobile, has been reported to Medical Examiner Victor A. Reed. Dr. Reed will perform an autopsy to determine the cause of death.

The couple was taken to the office of a physician, who could not find anything seriously the matter with him and he went home. Shortly after it was reported to the police that the boy had died and the case was reported to the medical examiner.

South End Wife Beaten

John A. Gravelle, thirty-three years old, of No. 29 Shawmut street, South End, was removed to the City Hospital after, he said, he had been beaten by his wife, Mrs. Gravelle, at their home. She was suffering from a severe injury to the left eye.

Two games were started for the Greater Boston Twilight League tonight. The Cornet All Stars of Lynn and the Chelsea Millstreams.

Chelsea City Team, which was forced to call off their home team to the Malden outfit last night, will try to win the game tonight.

Cornet All Stars will try to entertain the Eversett club, which will make their debut in the instant game. This will happen on the Little River grounds in Lynn, where thousands of fans devote their early evening hours watching the twilight games.

Other attractions will find Millstreams of Chelsea battling their way into the league. They should give Malden, their opponents, a great battle on the Foreway Green.

SPORT EDITORIAL

Ball Games Must Be Speeded Up

PROFESSIONAL baseball needs an injection of pepper. Fans are beginning to protest about long games this season. More important, the wives of said fans are kicking. With pastimes dragging daily until 6 o'clock, dinner and supper schedules in the suburbs are going to crack and run. And the wives will not stand for that long.

Unless the boys can reel them off more rapidly, the out of town supporters will get all their baseball from the sporting extra. That's the next best way to seeing a game, but it isn't good for the sport.

There is too much dilly dallying on the diamond these days. Every time a baseball is examined a couple of minutes are wasted. Every time a foul is hit a new ball must be thrown in. That takes up more time. The athletes have been getting away from the old "in and out fast" stuff, too.

The big thrill of the national sport is its speed and snap. When that fades, the kick departs. Owners of clubs and the leagues, through the umpire, should step on the gas.

Boston is in for a great year, if things go well here. But slow, dragged out contests will kill off the enthusiasm kindled by a fine start. Hurry 'em up a bit.

The Time to Take Money

Is When You Can GET It
Copyright, 1932, Star Company

If a man or a nation owes you money, take it when you have the CHANCE to take it. At the Versailles conference, when the impossible peace conditions were drawn, Germany offered to pay TWENTY-FOUR THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS, and probably could have paid that amount then.

But the allies laughed at the offer. Led by France, they proceeded to do all that they could to make it impossible for Germany to pay that or any other considerable amount.

Then came an offer for twelve and one-half billions. That was laughed at. Now comes an offer of seven and one-half billions, and that is called ridiculous. A year or two more of industrial and financial strangling, and Germany won't offer to pay anything. The wise man or nation takes a good, substantial sum when it can GET it.

"To Control All the Seas"

Is That the Case, What About Our Naval Guns?
Copyright, 1932, Star Company

The British Empire, establishing a new naval base with the approval of the House of Commons, announces that this base is part of a plan "to command all of the seas." That sounds like old times, although it hasn't got the old meaning. "Command of the seas" does not include the only sea of REAL importance in modern war, and that is the ocean OF AIR above us. No naval base in existence can control THAT. Any valley or flat mountain top is a "base" for the flying man. And any proud British superdreadnought is at the mercy of the man dropping dynamite from above and the other man shooting up torpedoes from the hidden submarine under the surface.

However, since England still talks about "commanding all the seas," wouldn't it be a good idea for the United States Navy to elevate the guns on our battleships, thus bringing their range up to the range of the British guns, in spite of Great Britain's objection?

Battleships and their guns will still play a part, although a minor part, in war for awhile, controlling merchant fleets, etc.

Is it believable that without any League of Nations or "World Court" England still controls the administration at Washington to the extent of giving orders to the United States Navy?

Fight to Save Rhode Island

Democrats Strive for Popular Government in a Thoroughly Gerrymandered State

The Democrats of Rhode Island are probably making an historic fight for popular government in Rhode Island. The State Constitution, by the growth of population, does not provide for popular government in that State. A minority, and a very small minority, as we have frequently pointed out, governs what is known as a sovereign American State. Every means which the majority of the people of Rhode Island can adopt calculated to bring about a Constitutional Convention and a change in the method of selecting the representatives of the people is justified. Every theory of government which has been recognized in America at any period of our history since our independence, and which is embodied in the Declaration of Independence itself, not only justifies but requires the majority to insist upon a Constitution which will enable that majority to express its will in the laws and administration of the government of that State.

It happens that the Democrats in Rhode Island are the ones who are making the fight for a more perfect form of government. In other parts of the country the Republicans are making the same fight against an aggressive Republican minority and an indifferent Democratic minority.

When a State Constitution allows a little town with one dozen votes to nullify the vote of a representative of a great city which comprises more than half the population and more than half the wealth of the State then we have a situation which justifies extraordinary proceedings.

We hope that the Democrats of Rhode Island and those progressive Republicans who know that wrong cannot stand against right will not cease their efforts until they have altered the Constitution and brought the Rhode Island government somewhat in keeping with the times.

The Boston American and Sunday Advertiser has been making a study of the State governments in New England. The facts produced by the Boston American and Sunday Advertiser in the special articles during the last three weeks show that Rhode Island, though the worst State, is not the only New England State where gerrymandered districts and rotten boroughs give the minority control of the government. Even in Massachusetts, our senatorial and representative districts would produce a result incongruous with the theory of our American government if we did not have the Initiative and Referendum, which places in the hands of the majority an effective machinery for controlling government. Maine has the Initiative and Referendum, but it is only for the statutory initiative. The Constitution cannot be touched by the Initiative, and thus the courts, through their assumed power to interpret the Constitution, can at any time deprive the Initiative which Maine enjoys of most of its efficacy.

New Hampshire is so gerrymandered and has so many rotten boroughs that legislation which the candidates for the State offices are pledged, and on account of which a large majority of the people elected them, has been repudiated by the Senators from those rotten boroughs.

A study of the State government of Vermont and the Vermont State Constitution will be made soon by the Boston American and Sunday Advertiser. We have no doubt that the same condition will be revealed in the Green Mountain State.

BOHEMIAN LIFE IN LONDON

LONDON, May 10.—Although the press has many artists' tales of "the life of the Bohemians," Bohemia still flourishes here. For instance, there is John Flannery, who started before he became so famous he could not fill the portrait orders he got. He still refuses to wear a collar or buy a new suit. He is one of a group of novel artists who still cling to "the old life."

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

No Attention Paid to Anonymous Communications

Honor the Private Soldier
Editor Boston American:
According to reports from London, high society is indulgent because an artist has made a hero of a British soldier who wore no stripes or bars, but who was, in the parlance of the army, "just a buck private." It is about time that London and the rest of the world gave a little credit, at least, to the man who really deserves credit, namely, the poor back who did the dirty work. Today, here in America, we read of the glorious deeds of General This and Colonel That. Nothing is said of the lowly private who made those deeds possible. Shame on London society and on others who object to making heroes of the buck private. Ask any real soldier about this. I mean a private, Jamalea Plain.

WORDS FROM THE LIPS OF WISE MEN

GENIUS is nothing else but a great appetite for patience.

He who judges between two friends loses one of them.

Sometimes it is expedient to forget even what you know.

Forget others' faults by remembering your own.

THE HELPING HAND

Do Not Insert Stamps. Letters Will Not Be Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls. No Names Are Published.

Suits for Men

Editor Helping Hand:
I have several nice neckties for men, two good three-piece suits, one size 36 and one size 35, for men, also two pairs of men's shoes and a pair of men's overalls, all mended and polished, which I am offering. Alice's father might be able to use a suit.

MRS. C. E. S.
ED. NOTE.—We have sent you Alice's address. Will you send her what her husband can use, and then let us know what is left, so that we can send them to another needy family? We would like to see the other offers you have made through the column.

Many Things Offered

Editor Helping Hand:
I would like to have some needy family call for the following articles: Two polo coats for a child between ten and twelve, two blue straw hats, a pair of white shoes and a pair of pants for a boy about six or seven. I also have a fur piece in fairly good condition. In any case, call for this list, will they please do so on a Saturday?

M. S.
ED. NOTE.—Your address will be sent to Mrs. M. E. S., who has children of these ages in need of clothes. Many thanks.

Cripple Needs Books

Editor Helping Hand:
I am a cripple in both legs and have just left the hospital after spending a year there. I would like to know if there is someone who has some books they would like to give to me, as I love to read and cannot afford to buy any.

MRS. M. H. 2
Things for a Baby
Editor Helping Hand:
I have a baby's crib and mattress, a nursery chair and some baby clothes, also some clothes

To Make Sheets

Editor Helping Hand:
Please send me Mrs. G. E. D.'s address, and I will give her plenty of pieces of new cotton sheeting that she can make up into nice sheets. They run about thirty-four by fifty-four inches each. Also have a black poplin coat, size 38, a skirt and some shirtwaists she could use. I will also see what I can do for her in the way of clothes for her two boys. Wish I had more to give. Keep up the good and noble work, and God will bless you. G. A. B.

ED. NOTE.—Mrs. G. E. D. will be made very happy by all the things you mention. Her address will be sent to you. The "good and noble work" is being done by you.

Mother of Six Pleads

Editor Helping Hand:
I am the mother of six children. My husband has been sick nearly all Winter and has not done any work for three weeks. Two of the boys need shirts, as they have to stay in because they have none. I thought maybe some kind reader might have some or any clothes they can't use. I have four boys, four, eight, ten and twelve, and two girls, seven and nine. I would be so thankful for any little help just now. The church has been very kind about helping with food, or I don't know what I ever would do. MRS. L. R. H.

Something for Mrs. E. L. W.

Editor Helping Hand:
Will you please send me the address of Mrs. E. L. W., who wants outfit flannel.

MRS. R. M. T.
ED. NOTE.—Thank you. Her address will be sent you.

Wants Address of Mae

Editor Helping Hand:
Please send me the address of Mae for her six-year-old brother, as I have quite a few articles. I will also see what I can do for her in the way of clothes for her two boys. Wish I had more to give. Keep up the good and

Wants a Dog

Editor Helping Hand:
I have read of Mrs. C. T.'s offer of a dog to H. K., who is already supplied, and I wonder if she would like to see a dog. I have a little brother in the hospital, and we expect to be out in a few days. I am crazy over dogs. We cannot afford to buy one, because bills have been so high. J. P. H.

Things to Make Over

Editor Helping Hand:
Please send me the address of Mrs. K. G. B., and I will send her some things to make over for her little girls. MRS. A. G. H.
ED. NOTE.—Thank you. Her address will be sent you.

Offers Help

Editor Helping Hand:
In answer to Mrs. G. E. D. for the things she mentions, I could help her out. Also for Mrs. W. E. I have some things, if you would kindly send address for the same. S. D.

For Young Man

Editor Helping Hand:
Reading in your paper of a young man in need of a suit, size 36, will you send me a suit that will gladly give to anyone who can use it. MRS. C. W. F.

Suit for Five-Year-Old

Editor Helping Hand:
I have a suit of clothes suitable for a boy five years old that will gladly give to anyone who can use it. MRS. C. W. F.

Clothing to Give

Editor Helping Hand:
Please send me Mrs. C. E.'s address, as I have some clothing size 36, which I will send her. R. F.

ED. NOTE.—Thank you. Her address will be sent you.

SOMETHING WRONG WITH HARDING'S STETHOSCOPE

By Herbert Kaufman

M. R. HARDING feels sure that the World Court is throbbing in America's heart. Something wrong with his political stethoscope.

He'd hear franker opinions on the front porch at Marion than he encounters at the White House.

Presidents, like potatoes, can seldom get folk to speak out in meeting. Respect for exalted position restrains the average man from directly expressing contrary views to his ruler.

Admirers and partisans withhold bad news, soften the shock of unpleasant truth and too often interpret analysis as hostile criticism.

Place hunters, favor seekers, glad handers and gushers are inclined to say what they believe will be most pleasing to power's ear.

The first gentleman in the land is one of the last persons to learn of dissenting majorities.

Foxy Louis Knew His People

Louis XI., cunning and cynical expert in the twists of human nature, and skilled to court intrigue, used to wander INCOGNITO around Paris, discuss problems of State in the court of miracles, obscure inns and all sorts of places. Photography hadn't made his fox face familiar to the MULTITUDE.

THERE WAS A KING with no false ideas about popular attitudes. And his reign reflected that knowledge.

Haroun Al Raschid's nightly rambles about Baghdad kept the pulse of the city constantly under his fingers.

Mr. Harding's mind isn't sufficiently fed on general sentiment.

He meets too many Ambassadors, notables, objective visitors, and too few Toms, Dicks and Harrys.

His every hour is crowded with study or conference or delegation reception.

Most of those who manage to see him are axe-grinders, diplomats, Senators, Congressmen, crowd his appointment calendar. Between times legislation demands survey-Cabinet are conferred with, House and Senate committees consulted.

As the executive head of a multi-billion-dollar concern, he is compelled to rely upon assistants and intimates for the most of his information.

Sugar and coal situations, delayed tariff revision and his World Court obsession all tend to indicate a mischievous advisor.

One week devoted to a first hand reading of the news would signify alter many of the President's strongest convictions.

When Prosperity Is a Delusion

Mr. Harding assures vegetable oil interests that the flexible provisions of the Fordney-McCumber act will, whenever necessary, both protect consumers against overcharges and defend domestic producers against unfair competition.

Why, then, does that sweet child of the tariff, the sugar schedule, continue on its plundering career?

What moves are contemplated to halt the soaring prices of clothing against which retail associations have already begun to protest? Five dollars per suit is the latest advance consumers may expect by Fall.

Senator Stanford, with his flocks on most Oregon hills and browsing through Idaho and Washington, to be indefinitely surmised by the schedule he dictated so much for his own benefit?

Must we continue to buy culm and painted rock at $16 a ton?

Prosperity is a delusion if its proceeds aren't equitably divided—higher wages meaningless without lowered living costs.

A Walking Plank for Rapacity

Mr. Harding is probably aware of a vigorous mine owners' protest against softening methods in the anthracite field. Unions against which retail production by a system of fines on high individual output.

The complaint doesn't cite, however, that the Vanstorch Collieries Company at Scranton, with a total investment of $750,000, liquidated an indebtedness of $725,000, paid $400,000 in sales commissions and earned $1,500,000 in the last eighteen months.

Senator Walsh may use these figures to stoke further the fire of his indignation. Rapacity will find itself walking a government contract for coal and cement.

Unanimous Supreme Court decision confirms Minnesota's authority to tax ore production. Five million dollars of overdue royalties will now be paid, and if precedent is guide, about $10,000,000 added to manufacturing overheads.

Some day the folk who pay all the bills may be sufficiently influential at the Capitol to enact a measure in restraint of compounded taxes. How the big boys do pass their assessments alone.

Over the Star Hurdles

Sergeant Beury at Lebourg, France, with 550 pounds of cargo, breaks an altitude record of 28,250 feet established last week by Gontard.

Barbet repeats his transatlantic flight in a 14-horsepower machine and lifts imagination with fast-approaching waves of flying civilians.

Enlarge the garage and turn the garden into a landing stage. Everybody's vehicle has arrived.

Trybal, at last reports, leads the international chess masters' tournament at Carlsbad. The world hasn't lost interest in all its old games. Thousands of thoughts aren't yet soaring higher than game tables.

Time to Pick Up Their Pens

August Hecksher, whose philanthropy covers a Fifth avenue block and thousands of afflicted little lives, enters the lists with a complaint that charity as well as justice has a blind eye.

Hecksher made millions by reading coat hoods, he's a metal magnate, and the metal market moves by fractions.

According to his figures, the Gerry Society spends $35 a week to administer the care of each ward. "Which means that they get the shorter end of every dollar contributed to feed and clothe them."

All sorts of recent developments invite a nation-wide survey of asylums, penitentiaries and refuges.

The convalescent proclamation was unconsciously drafted by Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Dicken destroyed debtors' prisons and banished unappealable board schools.

Time for somebody to pick up the pens they dropped.
